

Happy Holidays and a Prosperous 2007 to You

Whether you visit this web site or not
Whether you agree with what is presented here or not

If you are a Student, I wish you good grades and success
If you are an Academic, I wish you good results

If you are a Mathematician, I wish you good Theorems
If you are a Scientist, I wish you good results

If you prefer Arts, I wish you good ideas
If you are in Commerce, I wish you lots of business

If you are in industry, I wish you innovation
If you are a teacher, I wish you courage and conviction

If you are a politician, I wish you honesty
If you are a religious leader, I wish you fear of God

If you serve humanity, I wish you spiritual and financial rewards
In Short you have my best wishes for 2007, whoever you are

I hope the next year brings the realization that our vast Earth is getting smaller and smaller, thanks to our means of communication, and that we cannot ignore the sufferings of our fellow humans.

I hope that we realize during 2007 that our technological achievements need to be modeled so that they do not make life difficult for our future generations.

I hope that during 2007 we realize, collectively, that hate can only cause misery to the hater and to the hated and that exploitation can blast in the face of the exploiter.

I hope that the Children of Satan who cause strife amongst humans are identified and neutralized during 2007, and I hope that beginning with the year 2007 this century becomes the century of love, peace and harmony.

Finally, I hope to keep loving my fellow humans during 2007 or as long as I live. (If I yell it is usually not at you, it is because of the pain that I feel!)

Muhammad Zafrullah
Pocatello Idaho.

